

ABSTRACT

Apparatus and method to implicitly transmit a command to close a row of memory cells within a memory device as part of the transmission of an activate command to open another row of memory cells within the memory device.